Religious connection, new cases highlight 'Behind the Paranormal'

The first in an occasional series on the paranormal and religion will bring Fr. Anthony Perkins, a Ukrainian Orthodox priest, to the Sunday edition of Behind the Paranormal with Paul & Ben Eno on CBS Radio on January 10. Fr. Anthony brings with him an amazing background, not only as a paranormal enthusiast but as a theologian and former military intelligence analyst. On future shows in this vein, Paul and Ben plan to host other Christian clergy, a rabbi, an imam, pagan clergy, and several Hindu and Buddhist teachers, with a special two- to three-hour on-air panel discussion at the end of the series later this year.

Welcome to a new reporter: David Marsh!

Paul and Ben welcome the newest Behind the Paranormal field reporter, David Marsh of Portage, Indiana. David is a professional in the public and environmental affairs field but is also a paranormal investigator and sensitive. He has a special interest in shamanism and chakra-based sensitivity development.

David wants to hear about any paranormal goings-on listeners care to report, but will keep a special eye on the U.S. upper Midwest. Contact him at david@behindtheparanormal.com.

Show moves on the Boston FM dial

CBS Radio has moved the Boston WBMX HD3 broadcast of Behind the Paranormal from 98.5 to 104.1 on the dial (Sundays at 7 p.m. Eastern). Please note that this is a new high-definition signal, and you need a high-definition (HD) radio to pick it up. Just as with HD television, all radio signals will eventually be HD. Many new cars have HD radios already.
